And dodge the motorists;
And as he would loudly swear
And wildly shake his fists.

KEENER HAS GREAT TIME AS TWIRLER

Stands Glasses on their Ear After First Frame.

While a party of Englishmen sat in the stands and took in every play with great interest, and occasionally lifted their voices to do a little rooting, Monongah Glass took the first game of the world series from the Owens Bottles last night at South Side park by the third round after round of applause.

Osborne started to do the hurling for the Bottles and it proved a very fortunate thing for the Glasses that he did. They jumped on Osborne for three hits and three runs before any one had been retired in the first inning, and it seemed that the game was to be one of those one-sided and uninteresting events. However, the fans had another guess coming when "Chief" Keener took Osborne's place on the mound and in the next two innings he worked he allowed the Glasses pitched steadily ball all the way, the only run the Owens tribe got being the result of an error by hood at first base. The score:

PICKS BLUDGEON

BABE RUTH

While Babe Ruth was out on a movie location the other day he came across a willow sapling that looked good to him. He promptly borrowed a hatchet from the property clerk, cut down said sapling, trimmed it up and sent it to the factory to be made into a "Babe Ruth" model bludgeon.

Colonels Huston and Ruppert aren't overly enthused over the home-run king's moving picture ambitions while the Yanks are in the thick of the fight for the pennant. Since Babe's picture work started he hasn't been clipping out his usual quota of garden wall socks.

Then along came a skeeter or some insect of the timber wilds and landed on one of Babe's valuable wrists. His arm had to be lanced and he's out of the game temporarily.

The title of Ruth's movie thriller is "Headin' Home." Huston and Ruppert would rather see the Babe "Headin' Home" from third than in the pictures.

at every game like the Indians. You've got to believe you're a pennant winner before you can cop.

That's what is firing the Cleveland players. They figured on it when they broke camp at New Orleans last March. One of the mullins never floated over the Indians' home stand. They want that pennant and they know they are going to get it. Such a team is hard to turn back.

Three and Two

Baseball will make you popular,
Boxing will give you wealth,
Football will bring you "letters,"
But swim if you want health.

If you are sick and droopy,
And your beauty something lacks,
Just remember Ethel Bleibrey,
Who beat the Antwerp cranks.

Swimming reduces fat folks,
On lean folks it puts fat;
This water sport's a miracle—
What do you think of that!

The fountain of youth seems to be located in no other place than the old swimming hole.

Practically all the present day swimming stars took up with the water sport to try to regain health.

Two years ago Ethel Bleibrey was advised by her physician to try swimming to correct a slight curvature of the spine. She started in four events at the Olympic games at Antwerp and each time broke a previous record for the event.

Miss Bleibrey today is a robust, healthy girl. She stands as straight as an arrow and she owes it all to swimming.

Just because the September days have started it is no excuse for putting away one's bathing suit. There are indoor pools and natural ones where swimming can be continued through the winter months.

The miracle of swimming promises to put a whole flock of beauty parlors—and doctors—out of business—not to mention undertakers.

Gibson To Again Manage Pirates

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 8.—George Gibson will lead the Pirates again next year. This was settled last evening when he signed a 1921 contract. None of the fans appeared to have any doubt that he would be offered the managerial reins for another season, for they realize that during his first campaign as a major league pilot, he has given his very best effort to please the public, and has kept his players on their toes all the time—and this in the face of numerous handicaps.

Gibson paid his daily visit to the offices of Barney Dreyfuss, shortly after his team had defeated the Cubs yesterday. This call was very brief and those who were near, declared that the manager and magnate were not in conference more than about 30 seconds.

As soon as Gibby entered President Dreyfuss handed him a new contract and asked him if he was ready to look it over. After glancing at the document for a moment, George expressed his approval, thanked his employer, and affixed his signature.

But as for the rest of them, the catpaws reveal that there is but one Buck Weaver in the Johnson apple patch. The only time Eddie Collins isn't just about the cream of second sackers now performing is during the six months when the baseball is a moth ball. A jeweler's scales won't budge either way with Schalk of Chicago and O'Neill of the Indians. They're both 18-carat rocks.

If you wanted to pick a choice outfield of the whole American league you'd have to make it read Speaker, Ruth and Jackson. But as a unit even Miller Huggins himself admits that the White Sox outfield combination is a wee bit better than his slap-stickers.

With a four-man pitching staff that is joking the other clubs out of ball games regularly, the Kid isn't worried a shilling's worth. Compared to the Indians' two-man staff the Glasnostians draw down the shade. The Sox are smarter and faster than the big-bertha Yankees which New York is crazy about.

Sox Weakness.
But here's the weakness of the Pale Hose athletes. They aren't pennant-hungry. Chicago's had several of them in her day. The Sox can't get excited about the present race. They aren't snapping
